

ProcessMaker available in French with local service and support: Expert-IT appointed Colosa gold partner

Colosa's new partner, Expert-IT SA NV, localizes ProcessMaker and offers support services and customization throughout France, Belgium, Netherlands and Luxembourg

Brooklyn, NY and Louvain-la-Neuve, Belgium–May 11, 2009 – Colosa's open source business process management (BPM) software, ProcessMaker, has been released in French following a new partnership with Belgium-based Expert-IT.

Web-based and open source, ProcessMaker, enables enterprises and public organizations to automate paper-based workflow processes. Colosa's first European gold partner, Expert-IT will provide ProcessMaker support and services to small and mid-sized businesses across the Benelux.

Expert-IT provides custom development, consultancy and training to help businesses optimize internal and external communications. The company's 15 consultants regularly provide training at highly reputed centers in France, the Netherlands, Belgium and Luxembourg.

Expert-IT joins a roster of 15 partners in 11 countries. Gold partners are entitled to reseller margins, access to region-specific sales leads, support from ProcessMaker engineers, as well as numerous marketing opportunities.

Albert Janssens, managing director of Expert-IT S.A. N.V., said, "There is a real demand from European small and medium businesses for a solution such as ProcessMaker: it provides tangible benefits for organizations that need user-friendly ways to increase workflow efficiency, reduce paperwork, and automate operational, HR or financial systems. We're proud to be the company's first European gold partner and look forward to playing a pivotal role in its success across the region."

Brian Reale, CEO of Colosa, said, "The availability of ProcessMaker in French and the appointment of Expert-IT as our first European gold partner, is a landmark in Colosa's European reach. The team at Expert-IT is knowledgeable, driven and will provide ProcessMaker users with a proficient and professional service and support."
